W. Downs General Manager; Chartered Under Laws of Pennsylvania
State at $250,000; $50,000 Equipment.

Announcement was made today of the acquisition by a group of Connellsville men, chiefly of a tract of approximately 125 acres of nine-foot vein of coal in Harrison county, W. Va., for which was paid what is said to have been the record price for acreage in that state. The aggregate was $250,000, or at the rate of $1,000 an acre.

The tract, which is underlain by what is said to be the highest grade of gas coal, is located along Bingham creek on the western Maryland side, about midway between Fairmont and Clarksburg, and is, it is said, a trolley line, was being made of the tracks of the Western Maryland.

At a recent meeting the company authorized the expenditure of $50,000 for the development and equipment of a mine. Electric haulage will be installed. Homes for miners are to be erected as the need arises. According to present plans the mine will be ready for the shipment of coal by September or October and it is hoped that by the end of the year the output will be 15 to 20 cars a day. The vein can be operated by a drift opening.

Officers have been elected as follows: President, C. E. Wilson; first vice-president, J. C. Henry; second vice-president, David Wertheimer; secretary, C. W. Downs; treasurer, W. L. Wright; assistant treasurer, A. E. Kutz; general manager, C. W. Downs; assistant general manager, E. W. Kelly; counsel, E. C. Frame; and mine manager, J. C. Henry. The mine is to be developed by a drift opening and it is hoped that the expected revival in business comes on.

Offices of the company will be opened in Connellsville, probably in the Second National Bank building. They will be in charge of Mr. Downs, who will also be sales agent for the concern. Miss Betty Dobbs has been engaged as bookkeeper.

Coal Companies Are Charged With Getting Over Line

A petition was presented to court yesterday afternoon in behalf of Geo. W. Campbell of Connellsville, Charles W. Fannin of Brook, of Normalville, and Morgan town, praying for the appointment of a board of disinterested engineers to make a survey of the underground workings in the mines of the Everett and Barger Coal companies in Springfield township, with a view to ascertaining to what extent any of the operations of the mines have encroached upon adjoining properties, owned by the petitioners and also to determine the quantity of coal reserved, if any, without consent or arrangement with the owners.

The Barger companies are operated in 25 acres adjacent to 160 acres owned by the petitioners who allege that the former have extended their operations beyond the boundary lines.

Rev. Nace Says Reports About Americans Being Ill-Treated
In Japan are Prevarications

In a letter to the editor of The Courier Rev. I. G. Nace, formerly pastor of Trinity Reformed church, but now a missionary in Tokyo, Japan, reports that he and his family are finding residence in the Island Kingdom most delightful and takes occasion to express himself somewhat vigorously in denial of the reports about alleged ill-treatment of Americans in Japan.

"Just a few lines to tell the Connellsville folks through the kindness of The Courier's columns that the Naces have found the winter delightful in the semi-tropical climate of Tokyo. Spring is here, with its accompanying wind storms. Last Sunday Tokyo, and the coast near by, was struck by a hurricane which did some damage to property. The only inconvenience which we experienced because of it was clouds of dust which seemed to come right through the house. For several weeks we have been enjoying the beautiful white and pink plum blossoms. Now the cherry blossoms, for which Japan is noted, are beginning to bud. Within a week or so thousands of cherry trees will be crowned in glory. Tourists and visitors flood into Tokyo from all parts of the island and from all over the world because of their love for these flowers at this season of the year.

"Most of my time so far has been devoted to the study of the language. We are having a few days' vacation over the Easter season. This afternoon, Dr. Reischauer, an authority on Buddhism, is taking a group of language students to several Buddhist temples and Shinto shrines. Such excursions are very instructive and helpful.

"For some time we have been reading and hearing of statements that have been appearing in American newspapers, especially some on the western coast, which must of necessity leave the impression that the Americans who are in Japan must have a hard time of it because of ill-treatment by the Japanese. Every time I heard or read such statements I have gotten 'hot under the collar.' Anyone interested in justice and truth and in a feeling of good will between our native land and Japan cannot help but feel righteously indignant because of such malicious prevarications. Such propaganda surely does not create any friendships. The other day I secured several copies of a leaflet which gives authoritative information because it is based on facts, which I enclose. It expresses the sentiment of the majority of Americans out here, and we trust will help to correct some of the false views created by political propaganda in the minds of Americans at home.

The statement to which Rev. Nace refers was issued by the International Friendship Committee of Federated Missions in Tokyo. It was prepared after systematic inquiry had been made of American residents in Japan, including representatives of business firms and missionaries who lived extensively over the empire. Out of 35 replies received from 34 towns and cities, in all sections of Japan, 23 declared that the persons addressed had no known of any Americans having been mistreated during the past few months.

In reply to a question as to how present conditions compare with those of the past 23 replies, were to the effect that there had been no change. "Many took occasion," says the statement, "to refer to the cordial treatment they have received throughout their stay in Japan. Three stated that previous conditions are slightly worse, and four note improvement. There is evidence in some of the letters of strong feeling among the Japanese as to the injustice of discriminatory legislation in America, but there is no indication that this is resulting in mistreatment of Americans."

PHILO SOCIETY IS WINNER IN ANNUAL
LITERARY CONTEST*Thesian Group of the Perry High School Is Defeated; Winners

ANNUAL EXHIBIT OF "GYM" WORK A
DECIDED SUCCESS*High School Boys and Girls
Provide Interesting
Entertainment.*MANY FEATS OF AGILITY*Strength and Skill and Grace and Precision in Movement Demonstrated by a Varied Program Last Evening Selected Credit Upon Department.

The skill and proficiency shown by the boys and girls who took part in the annual exhibition of the department of physical training of the high school in the gymnasium last evening, proved to the large gathering of admiring parents and friends that making high grades in mental tests and examinations is not the only accomplishment of our school children.

With a program which gave opportunity for children of both sexes to demonstrate the work of building up the body while the mind is being trained, a highly enjoyable evening's entertainment was provided.

A Swedish folk dance by first and second year girls, as the first number was a pleasing and novel introduction to the program. Work on the parallel bars gave a company of boys an opportunity to show their agility and strength. The second year girls formed the gymnasium class which illustrated graceful foot, arm and body movements in concert. The drill of the first and second year boys showed with what precision a number of intricate marches and wheels can be executed in unison.

One of the most picturesque numbers was the Japanese drill of junior and senior girls in oriental costume. The class of boys on the flying rings performed a number of really remarkable feats which tested their strength and displayed the benefits derived from systematic training. The freshmen and sophomore girls who put on a series of "stunts" gave variety to the program.

The most serious performance was that enacted in by Burton Wiley and Dale Whitley who demonstrated the "half Nelson," "full Nelson," "backboard" and other holds employed by wrestlers. Preceding this exhibition Wiley, while in a prone position on the floor, and afterwards with his body supported clear of the floor on his feet, hands and head, sustained the weight of his partner on his chest.

The may dance of sophomore and junior girls, appropriately costumed in green and white, was a most pleasing exhibition of grace and rhythm and lent a bit of gaiety to the program. It preceded a vigorous series of spring board exercises, "horse" and "elephant" vaulting by the larger boys. The wand drill by second year and freshmen girls was an example in precision which attracted and held the attention of everybody, no less so than the Indian dance, the last number offered by the freshmen and sophomore girls. The program concluded with a military drill by boys. This was executed with a strict adherence to drill regulations and a perfection in execution such as can come only from thorough instruction and careful training.

During the performance by the boys on the different apparatus Leon Straubiers and Morris Mills, dressed as clowns, took their turns with the other boys and showed that they were quite as skillful and also amusing in their antics. The dances and other numbers performed to music were accompanied on the piano by Miss Pauline Knepper of the junior class.

The credit for the proficiency shown by the girls and boys is due to the very careful supervision given by Miss Emma Mellon and F. Rupp, respectively. This exhibition will be repeated this evening, beginning at 8 o'clock.

FRENCH WILL OCCUPY MORE GERMAN LAND IF DEMANDS ARE NOT MET*Marshal Foch Suggests That Impressive Column March To Westphalia.*By Associated Press.
PARIS, April 16.—Occupation of more German territory by French forces should the Germans fail to meet the Allied demands for the payment of 12,000,000,000 gold marks by May 1, may go beyond the Ruhr district and include at least a part of the industrial section of Westphalia, it is declared by the Echo de Paris. In discussing yesterday's meeting of the French cabinet at which the question of regional expansion of military penalties was considered, the newspaper says that two reports, one military and the other economic, were adopted.

Marshal Foch submitted the military report in which it was pointed out it would be insufficient to fix the limit of the new occupation area on strictly military lines, adding the economic element was worthy of equal consideration. The marshal is declared to have held that the first drive by French forces should be carried out with columns imposing enough to deal with any German reaction, although that would be most impracticable. He declared this force could be decreased once occupation was well established and would not amount to more than 10 per cent of the effective held in the Rhineland by France before April 1 when the class of 1919 was mustered out. New battalions could be obtained by calling up the classes of 1918 and 1919, one of which could be replaced in three months by the class of 1921.

Louis Loucheur, minister of liberated regions, submitted the economic report stating the penalties to be applied should not be merely to exert pressure on the Germans and force them to give in, but as a means to bring in money due to France.

ARTICLE 3.
The Atlantic fleet, under Admiral Henry T. Mayo, went on a war basis at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of February 3, 1917.

At the same hour of the same day President Wilson delivered his message to Congress severing relations with Germany, and the Department of State handed Bernstorff his passports.

I had just finished sending out a one-line dispatch ordering the mobilization of naval communications, when a summons came to me to attend a conference with the president at the white house. He had finished the delivery of his message and returned to his official residence.

My message, which put all our communications—radio, telegraph, telephone, mails and signals—on a war basis, read as follows:

"One Alas! Radicals. Mobilize Naval Communications."

"SECNAV" is the code word for secretary of the navy. The order was spluttering out by wireless as I walked over to the White House. I found the secretary of war had also been summoned.

What Optical Science is doing to develop better vision

Just two pieces of glass! And yet these lenses which correct so effectively the defects of vision are possible only because of the highly-trained skill of the optician, skilled by scientific instruments of perfect precision. The conditions of modern life constantly increase the number of people whose efficiency or health is lowered by some impairment of eyesight—for which the remedy is glasses prescribed and fitted after a thorough examination.

To this examination the optical specialist brings knowledge and training of the highest order. He also utilizes the latest equipment and apparatus which have been perfected for precise scientific work. Science has stepped in and brought its aid to personal skill. Most people do not know when eye-sight trouble really begins; usually it seems so gradually that for a long while it may not even be noticeable. Imperfect vision, if not rectified, grows worse with the years. The surest way of preserving your eyesight at maximum efficiency, throughout life is to go to an optical specialist for an examination once a year.

STIRRING DAYS WHEN PREPARING GO ON WAR BASIS

order to prevent information of a nature useful to the potential enemy reaching German ears.

The ships we had maintained along the coast to enforce neutrality regulations were increased in number, and this consideration for neutrality now became a consideration for our own safety and a virtual coast patrol was established.

Wilson Keeps Close Watch.

The President watched every step during these days with closest attention. He was not satisfied with general reports on what was being done. The Monday following the break in diplomatic relations he appeared suddenly in my office. I was hard at work on plans, reports and orders. I told him what I had done, and what I was doing.

He suggested we go together to the war department. The secretary of war was there, and the three of us spent a long session in discussing the situation.

Some of the things the President said to us are indelibly impressed upon my memory.

He told us the breach in diplomatic relations did not necessarily mean war, but it brought us so close to the possibility we must put our house in order, and be ready for any emergency.

He was concerned about the personnel in our respective departments. "Each of you must surround yourselves with the ablest men you have," he said, and, turning to me, he asked whether I felt that my immediate advisers—the chief of naval operations, the chiefs of the bureaus and the officers in important commands—were the right ones to retain in these positions.

"Get and keep the best," I told him.

He asked the same question of Secretary Baker, and he replied that his men knew their jobs, and were going ahead with them. Some were necessarily slated for early retirement, but to anticipate this, he thought, would be unwise, occasioning needless alarm and disturbing morale.

The President listened intently to us, and reiterated his desire that only the ablest, most alert and energetic men should be put in places of responsibility.

"Get and keep the best," he said, as our conference ended.

We continued developing our plans along the indicated lines. On the same day the order was issued mobilizing communications I had sent a dispatch requiring every ship of the three fleets—Atlantic, Pacific and Asiatic—to report immediately on its readiness for war. The condition of the ship, guns, machinery and personnel, together with what repairs or additions might be needed, were imperative matters for information. As a result of this dispatch we knew very quickly precisely where we stood, and were able to meet promptly and effectively the conditions which required attention and remedy.

Events Move Rapidly.

After the cabinet meeting of March 20, when decision was reached that Congress should be asked to declare war, things moved with increasing rapidity.

Admiral Mayo had notified me that he planned to bring his gunnery exercises and maneuvers to an end April 15, and to stay north for home waters. I was anxious to interfere as little as possible with the important practice work off Cuba, but when it was settled beyond reasonable doubt that we were to become a belligerent, we decided to call the Atlantic fleet northward at once. So, following the March 20th meeting, I dispatched an order which headed the fleet for Hampton roads.

Plans to Protect Shipping.

That same afternoon, accompanied by Admiral Benson, chief of naval operations, I attended a meeting of the general board of the navy, and asked the board, in the name of the President, to draft at once recommendations for some means more effective than that of armed guards for protecting American shipping entering European ports.

In reply the board reiterated recommendations, which I had made on February 3, as follows:

(a) Escort vessels to deep water from our ports, and similarly from deep water to our ports.

(b) Arrange with the British and French governments for the convey of our merchant ships through the barred zones.

(c) Merchant ships to proceed on the high seas from points of leaving and receiving escorts, depending upon their guns for protection, and upon changes of course to follow alternate routes.

(d) Arrange with French and British governments a code of signals to be used in directing merchant ships as to routes to be followed and points of meeting escorts.

(e) Establish a patrol of the Atlantic coast.

(f) Recruit up to the limit allowed by law for emergencies in order to provide crews for patrol and auxiliary, and to fill battleship complements which have been depleted.

All Ready for War.

Obviously some of these recommendations could not be put into effect until a state of war existed. I ordered the office of naval operations to be ready to act upon them instantly when occasion arrived.

And now I want to give you a document which has never been printed before. It is the text of the mobilization plan sent to every commander of fleet, or vessels and to every district commandant. The arrangements were so complete in every detail, and every commander and official knew so well what to do, that it was necessary when war was declared only to telegraph them to mobilize in accordance with this plan—and mobilization was accomplished in a few hours. Here is the document:

NAVY DEPARTMENT

Strictly confidential Op-17-D

Washington, D. C.

March 21, 1917.

FROM: Secretary of the Navy

TO:

SUBJECT: Mobilization Plan

References:—

(a) Chief of Naval Operations

Confidential Letter of April 27, 1916.

(b) Chief of Naval Operations

Confidential Letter of December 11, 1916.

(c) Mobilization order No. 1 of February 5, 1917.

1. The following instructions for mobilization replace References (a), (b) and (c). Destroy References (a), (b) and (c). If either Reference (a) or Reference (b) has not been received, no report of that fact need be made.

2. Mobilization sheets will be published from time to time giving the organization of the fleet for war, fitting-out bases and other information.

3. Whenever a new mobilization sheet for any force is received the old mobilization sheet for that force shall be destroyed. The mobilization sheet for any force shall remain in effect until replaced.

4. Upon receipt of the message in secret code to mobilize for war, every effort shall be made to assemble ships at the designated rendezvous, at the earliest possible date, ready in all respects for war service.

5. Order of ships in divisions, as well as details of organization not otherwise provided for shall be prescribed by the commander-in-chief, or, in case of vessels assigned to naval districts, by commandants of naval districts.

6. The following rendezvous are designated for mobilization in case of war in the Atlantic:

Battleship Force: Chesapeake Bay after April 30th. Until then—as at present.

Scout Force: Division 1—Canal Zone; Division 2—Home Yards; Division 3—San Francisco; Division 4—Canal Zone.

Patrol Force: As ordered.

Destroyer Force: With Battleship Fleet.

Mine Force: With Battleship Fleet.

Train: As ordered by Train Commander.

Submarine Force: New London, Conn.

Atlantic Coast Division: Philadelphia, Pa.

Pacific Coast Auxiliaries: As directed by commander-in-chief.

Philippine Divisions: As directed by commander-in-chief.

Naval District Forces: Each force in own district units at ports as directed by district commandant.

For Swift Movement.

7. Plans shall be developed by all officers concerned to provide for the utmost expedition and efficiency of mobilization.

8. The assignment of a vessel to a navy yard for fitting out shall not be construed as an order for that vessel to proceed to the yard designated to strip and fit out, but as an order to call on no other than that yard for aid in fitting out for war service, except by permission of navy department.

The principal mission of each vessel shall be to arrive at its designated rendezvous at its war station ready for war service in the shortest possible time. The secondary mission of each vessel, in case vessels are ordered to strip ship, shall be to store its surplus supplies, equipment and material resulting from stripping ship at the navy yard assigned on the mobilization sheet. The method of accomplishing these missions is left to the joint discretion of the commandants or flag officers or commanding officers concerned. Vessels shall not strip unless ordered to do so when mobilization is ordered.

9. When the requirements of vessels as to personnel, material, facilities, or repairs, in fitting out for war service, conflict, they shall be given precedence in the alphabetical order of their assigned precedence letters.

Most Report Promptly.

10. Upon receipt of message "Always availability," reports shall be made immediately to the department by the officer designated on the mobilization sheet of the estimated earliest date when each vessel could be ready in all respects, so far as material is concerned, for war purposes. These reports shall be for each vessel, consist of name of vessel and date. The message "Always availability" calls for a report, but should never be construed as an order to take any steps whatever towards mobilization.

11. Comments and suggestions useful in perfecting the mobilization sheets and in this letter are requested.

12. Acknowledge this letter by radio or wire.

As a matter of fact the drafting and issuance of this mobilization program had been anticipated in the navy department by almost a year. It was immediately after the sinking of the Sussex—on April 27, 1916, to be specific—that a mobilization plan was first sent to the fleet. This was Reference (a) the destruction of which is ordered above. The thrilling days of the Sussex crisis—which carried us to the very brink of war and were more thrilling for us in Washington than the general public knew—make a story in themselves which I intend to tell.

(Another article telling how close we came to war in 1916 will be printed in The Courier-Messenger.)

Real bargain days for the man who builds

Rents are high as ever, yet lumber and building materials have come down with a crash.

In many cases our prices are 40% lower than those of a year ago.

For the man who plans to build, repair, or remodel, this is certainly a favorable time.

The country as a whole is four years behind in its building program. Our own city needs 300 homes to bring conditions back to normal.

People must build, soon, and increased building is sure to bring higher prices. The present situation is the result of forced selling by manufacturers who are over-stocked.

These manufacturers were caught by the lull in buying and they must convert their stocks into ready money. In many cases they are selling at cost. When building begins again they will be quick to ask their legitimate profits once more.

We have a big stock of building materials, including all kinds of lumber, Vulcanite roofing, and Beaver Board, which we secured at favorable prices and which we will sell at a bargain.

Our other prices are in line. Take advantage of the opportunity. Come in and see us today.

MAN GETS HEARING IN SCOTSDALE ON DESERTION CHARGE

Wife Who Comes From Can-

10 Children.

AWAY FROM HOME EIGHT YEARS

E. Paul Zanes, said to be living with woman in Connelville, had applied for divorce; held for court and is unable to give fully other notes.

Special to The Courier.
SCOTSDALE, April 16.—Constable
Frank Gause of Scottdale yesterday arrested E. Paul Zanes, a foreman at the plant of the United States Cast Iron Pipe & Foundry company, in Connellville and brought him here for a hearing before Justice of the Peace William Kennel on a charge of non-support and desertion, made by his wife, whom he left in Canada eight years ago. Zanes was held for court and in default of bail was sent to jail.
Mrs. Zanes, who lived at North Williams, Canada, is the mother of 10 children, only one of whom is under 16 years. Eight years ago Zanes left home but regularly sent his wife money. On one pretext or another, however, he had not sent for her.
February 21, last, the regular allowance to Mrs. Zanes did not arrive and after waiting for word from him she came to Scottdale, arriving here a little over a week ago. Going to the pipe foundry she talked with Zanes over the telephone. He recognized her voice and disappeared for a few days,
only to be picked up by Gause.
Mrs. Zanes, without funds, appealed to Attorney Meyer Morris, who began an investigation of the case and learned that Zanes for the past six years had lived with a woman in Pittsburgh street, Connelville. Attorney Morris learned Zanes had applied for a divorce from Mrs. Zanes and that the hearing was set for Monday, April 11, before the master in Uniontown. Attorney Morris appeared before the master and Zanes was refused a hearing.

THE SOISSON.

"OUTSIDE THE LAW."—A thrilling melodrama, starring Priscilla Dean, supported by Lon Chaney, called the Wizard of the Screen, is today's feature attraction. The picture is filled with good, strong, clean melodrama and has attracted record breaking crowds wherever it has been shown. Also appearing in the cast is Stanley Goethals, one of the dearest and most natural little boys that ever played in pictures. Watch him melt the ice-cream heart of "Silky Moll" and get her on the straight-road and you will see an amazing piece of child acting. "A Perfect Crime," presenting Monte Blue, will be shown Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"THE STRANGER."—A picture of high entertainment value presenting an all-star cast, is being presented today as the feature attraction. This picture is in five acts and is interesting throughout, and the scenes are unusually attractive.

Monday and Tuesday "The Spenders" will be shown.

THE ORPHEUM.

"THE TEXAN."—A William Fox picture with Tom Mix in the leading role is the feature attraction today. The picture is one of the most important phases of the picture, for it is well known that nothing in the pastimes of the great sons of the plains is so typical of western atmosphere as the apparent rodeo. The daring exploits of the cow-boys during the steer bullroving events, the bronco "busting" and contests of skill with the lariat, as recorded on the film, will be interesting to persons all over the country—especially to followers of the western type of story. Incidentally, many of Mix's cow-boys, who figure in every Mix picture, entered the events and several succeeded in carrying away first honors.

Monday and Tuesday Thomas Meighan will be seen in "Civilian Clothes."

DONNELLY DOESN'T SHOW MUCH FIGHT AND DECISION GOES TO TOMMY PHILLIPS

Former Uniontown Boxer Disappoints a Big Crowd From His Home City.

KROUSE SCORES A KAYO

Johnny Donnelly certainly disappointed a crowd of between 400 and 500 Uniontown fight fans last night when he failed to open up in his 10 round match with Tommy Phillips of McKeesport at Slavish hall last night. The former Uniontown boy, now of Newark, N. J., was on the defense all the way and only milled when Phillips forced him to.

The McKeesport battler continually fought Donnelly from the first round. Phillips had to rush the Uniontown boy because of Johnny's reach advantage. The Tube City scrapper missed lots of blows but his aggressiveness never ended. Donnelly kept jabbing a left to Phillips' face, doing no damage, but scoring nevertheless. Donnelly used a right opportunist frequently, the blow often missing.

Had Phillips not shown the aggressive spirit he did, the fight would have been a tame affair. During the first three rounds Donnelly did not lead once. He fought harder in the fourth but lagged again throughout the remainder of the bout. Nobody went to the fight to see what Donnelly had to show since his much touted career in the east under big boxing promoters. He failed to produce, however, and noise from the Uniontown delegation was very noticeable by its absence before the scrap was half over.

The tenth round was a big one for Phillips. He landed more blows in it than in any other and often Donnelly caught him in the clinches, holding until the referee ordered a break. The McKeesport boy did not lead for Donnelly's face often but drove for the stomach. He was worsted in the fighting several times.

Phillips took the first three rounds on aggressiveness; Donnelly opened up enough in the fourth to take that frame and the fifth and sixth were even. Phillips took the seventh by a shade and the eighth went for a draw. Phillips captured the ninth and the tenth was his easiest round.

In the semi-final Read Brown of Pittsburgh and Young Lovitsky of Pittsburgh met. The scrap ended in the first round when the latter fighter fractured his thumb.

In the preliminary Joe Mullen of Trotter was knocked out by Buck Krouse of Broad Ford in the first round. Mullen failed to cover up on the defense and walked into some wicked punches. He went down for the count of nine and getting to his feet was knocked down. He rested on his knee until the referee counted six and then fell over.

A crowd of about 2,000 spectators witnessed the bouts. Eddie Kennedy of Pittsburgh was referee.

"By God!" whispered Drummond half to himself, while his jaws set like a steel vice. "A thimble, the devil, the swine."

"Oh, quick, quick," the girl urged, in an agony. "They may be here at any moment. She dragged him to the door, and together they forced the door into the hall."

"Lakington won't," said Hugh with a grin. "And if you see him tomorrow—don't ask after his jaw. Good-night, Phyllis."

With a quick movement he raised her hand to his lips; then he slipped in the clutch and the car disappeared down the drive.

He felt a sense of elation and of triumph at having won the first round, and as the car whirled back to Lakington through the cool night air his heart was singing with joy of action. And it was perhaps as well for his peace of mind that he did not witness the scene in the room at the Elms. Lakington still lay motionless on the floor; Peterson's cigar still glowed steadily in the darkness. It was hard to believe that he had ever moved from the table; only the bullet imbedded in a tree proved that somebody must have got busy. Of course, it might have been the girl, who was just lighting another cigarette from the stump of the old one.

At length Peterson spoke. "A young man of dash and temperament," he said gravely. "It will be a pity to lose him."

"Why not keep him and lose the girl?" yawned Trum. "I think he might amuse me."

"We have always our dear Henry to consider," answered Peterson. "Apparently the girl appeals to him. I'm afraid, Trum, he'll have to go and at once."

The speaker was tapping his left knee softly with his hand; save for that slight movement he sat as if nothing had happened. And yet ten minutes before, a carefully planned coup had failed at the instant of success. Even his hand, known to be complicated, had been known to come to Peterson's aid in his blindness; cold shivers down their backs.

CHAPTER THREE.

Things Happen in Half Moon Street.

ONE.

Hugh Drummond folded up the piece of paper he was studying and rose to his feet as the doctor came into the room. He then pushed a silver box of cigarettes across the table and waited.

"Your friend," said the doctor, "is in a very peculiar condition. Captain Drummond—very peculiar. Can you enlighten me at all as to what he has been doing during the last few days?"

Drummond shook his head. "Haven't a faint idea, doctor."

"For instance, that very unpleasant sound in his chest," pursued the other. "The top joint is cracked to a pulp."

"I noticed that last night," answered Hugh noncommittally. "Looks as if it had been mixed up between a hammer and an anvil, don't it?"

"But have you no idea how it occurred?"

"I'm full of ideas," said the doctor. "In fact, it's any help to you in your diagnosis that would be caused by the application of an unpleasant medieval instrument known as a thimble."

The worthy doctor looked at him in amazement. "A thimble? You must be joking, Captain Drummond."

"Very far from it," answered Hugh briefly. "If you want to know, it was touch and go whether the other thumb didn't share the same fate."

He blew out a cloud of smoke and smiled inwardly as he noticed the look of scandalized horror on his companion's face. "It isn't his thumb that concerns me," he continued; "it's his general condition. What's the matter with him?"

The doctor pursed his lips and looked at Hugh Drummond with a frown. "I am sure that no one had ever passed a law allowing men of his type to be murdered on sight."

"His heart seems sound," he answered after a lengthy pause. "and I found nothing wrong with him constitutionally. In fact, I may say, Captain Drummond, he is in every respect a most healthy man. Except—except for this peculiar condition."

Drummond exploded. "Damnation, take it, man, what on earth do you suppose I asked you to come round for? It's of no interest to me to hear that his liver is working properly. Then he controlled himself. 'I beg your pardon, doctor; I had rather a crying evening last night. Can you give me any idea as to what has caused this peculiar condition?'"

"His companion accepted the apology with an acid bow. 'Some form of drug,' he answered. 'Drummond heaved a sigh of relief. 'Now we're getting on,' he cried. 'Have you any idea what drug?'"

"It is, at the moment, hard to say," returned the other. "It might be an acid, or a base, or a salt, or a mixture of some conclusion."

"Which, at present, you have not. Right now we know where we are. As you don't know what the drug is, presumably you don't know how long it will take for the effect to wear off."

"That—er—is within limits, certainly," answered the doctor.

"What about diet?"

"Oh, light. . . . Not too much meat. . . . No alcohol. He rose to his feet as Hugh opened the door; really the war seemed to have produced a distressing effect on people's manners. Diet was the one question on which he always let himself go."

"Not much meat—no alcohol. Right. Good morning, doctor. Down the stairs and straight on. Good morning." The door closed behind him, and he descended to his waiting car with cold disapproval on his face.

"Excuse me, sir," the doctor paused and eyed a well-dressed man who had spoken to him uncompromisingly. "Am I right in assuming that you are a doctor?"

"You are perfectly correct, sir, in your assumption."

The man smiled; obviously a gentleman, thought the practitioner, with his hand on the door of his car.

"It's about a great pal of mine, Captain Drummond, who lives in here," went on the other. "I hope you won't think it unprofessional, but I thought I'd ask you privately, how you find him?"

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take
Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking twice, or trying to catch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound, mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.
